

This Help Card explains which allowances can be claimed through GaneTime to be paid via COINS payroll. (Which previously would have been claimed on manual form 341.)

Allowances are claimed on the Advanced tab – after adding Job number and O/T hours remembering to click Update

Types of Allowances which can be claimed in GaneTime

E south a	Additional Hours (excessive hours)
ExcessHrs	 A payment of £47.50 per day will be paid to monthly paid employees in the following circumstances: When undertaking site-based work, and When working over and above 11 hours on site, for 2 or more consecutive shifts in any one week; and When working any shifts that commence between the hours of 06:00 Mon to 18:00 Fri; does not apply on any weekend shifts starting outside of the above hours In addition, there is a requirement for you to record a minimum of 11 hours in Job booking and split between Std hrs (8) and the balance in Other (do not record as O/T hrs). To be eligible for this payment the working arrangement must be agreed in advance with a Manager of Level 6 or above. Out-with the above normal contractual overtime payments will apply.
ExcessTyl	Week days (excessive)Travel – Construction jobs only
	Travel paid at basic rate for excessive hours will be made when:
	 Excessive travel over 1 nour each way in a single day (first nour of travel each way is unpaid); and
	Only paid when occurring 3 or more times in a single week
LodgeTyl	Lodge/Travel
Lougetvi	Payment of 8 hours when required to lodge to prevent an exceedance.
WARNING	 Guaranteed 8 hours per lodge travel (same allowance for lodge before/lodge after). Note – 1 x subsistence payment will be paid per lodge travel claim.
	In addition, there is a requirement for you to add the actual travel time to assist in ensuring ls this just an overnight stay?	sufficient rest periods. In the comments box alongside allowances, record the actual times you left home and arrived at the hotel when lodging before, or when lodging after the shift record
If so, then	Advanced, and do not include any travel time as worked hours in Job booking.
